Distinguished Undergradutate Advising/Mentoring Award Spring 2017

Deadline: Monday, March 6 at 4:00 p.m.

The Distinguished Undergraduate Advising/Mentoring Award recognizes a department or program faculty advisor for extensive and exceptional involvement in advising and mentoring students.

Criteria

The award is intended to honor an individual who has demonstrated a tenacious commitment to advising/metoring undergraduate students. This is a one-time award of $1000*.

Eligibility

College of Humanities faculty members. According to UHAP Chapter 3, "Faculty shall mean those members of The University of Arizona who are appointed to positions that are responsible for and whose performance evaluations are primarily based on the teaching, research and public service goals and objectives of the institution; and who have professor, associate professor, assistant professor, instructor, or lecturer in their title.

Nomination Instructions

While it is suggested that the department/program present a strong nomination packet, all letters of nomination will be accepted. Departmental nominations should include:

- A letter of nomination addressing the nominee's contributions to advising/mentoring.
- A statement of nominee's advising and mentoring philosophy.
- Letters of support with at least four letters from students

Deliver Packet to: COH Awards Committee
Attn: Antonique Jones
College of Humanities Dean's Office
