

LECTURE

THE FUTURE PAST:

DIGITIZING THE ARCHITECTURE OF IMPERIAL ROME

March 10, 6 pm

Kiva Auditorium (EDUC 211)

PRESENTED BY:

James Packer

*Professor of Classics (Emeritus)
Northwestern University*

Visualizing the architecture of imperial Rome has not been easy. Old photographs of the ruins give no real idea of the original buildings. New digital models of ancient Rome's most famous sites provide the start of a new 21st century approach to the study of antiquity.

SPONSORED BY:

A THE UNIVERSITY OF ARIZONA

- College of Humanities, Department of Classics
- College of Fine Arts
- College of Architecture, Planning and Landscape Architecture

For more information, contact
Department of Classics, 621-1689